

Nowhere Bound

Contact Improvisation Intensive with Martin Keogh

Contact improvisation requires a radical trust -- but never so much as when we dance in the absence of will -- those moments when we drop the reins and, nowhere bound, we allow our animal to carry us. In this workshop, with games, some sweat, and the unique physicality of the contact body we will savor and rock the boundaries between states of allowing and mindful intention.

Martin Keogh has taught and performed contact improvisation for over twenty-six years. For his contribution to the development of the form he is a Fulbright Senior Specialist and listed in Who's Who in the World. He has co-facilitated Teacher's Conferences on four continents and is the author of two books. When not on tour, Martin and his family live in Southeastern Massachusetts.
